Incident Case #: 16-22501

Summary:

On June 3, 2016, at 1608 hours, officers responded to the area of Concord Street & Fairfield Street for a suspicious person complaint. Shortly before police were notified, a 12-year-old female was walking her dog by the intersection of Concord & Fairfield Streets. A male in a red pick-up truck stopped by the female and made a comment to the girl. The female did not understand the comment as it sounded like a foreign language. She ignored the comment and the truck continued east on Fairfield Street.

Shortly after, the female was walking on Concord Street and the truck began to slowly follow her. The female became scared and began to run toward her home on Henderson Street. The male operator exited his truck and began to chase her. As she was running home, the male got back in his truck and left the area. The female reported no injuries.

Officers are investigating the incident and attempting to identify the operator of the vehicle. A description of the operator and truck are listed below.

Truck description:

- Full size red pick-up truck, newer model
- Silver bumpers & side steps

Operator description:

- Older white male
- Brown hair with gray streaks
- Average weight & height
- Small round eyeglasses
- Gray shirt

Anyone with information about this incident is urged to contact Officer Scott Verillo at (860) 584-3000.
